FOUR PRISON SENTENCES ARE PRONOUNCED IN COURT TODAY

Three Are Sent to Jeffersonville Reformatory For Terms of 1 to 14 Years

FOURTH SENTENCE SUSPENDED

William Thorne, Accused of Jewelry Theft, Given a Chance—James Meredith Guilty

TWO BOYS ADMIT ROBBERY

Charge Against Russell Taylor and Alfred Nipp Changed From Burglary to Grand Lrceny

Four prison sentences were pronounced this morning in the circuit court when four defendants. William Thorne, James Meredith, Russell Taylor and Alfred Nipp were arraigned on various charges and pleaded guilty, each receiving a fine and sentences of from one to 14 years in the reformatory. The sentence of Thorne was suspended during good behavior.

Criminal business occupied most of the attention of the court, and very little business took place. The most important business in the civil court was in the matter of the City of Rushville's petition for Hodge's Branch drain.

In the case John S. Abercrombie, et al., entered special appearance and filed a motion to quash the notice of publications defining the boundary lines, which had to be published for the second time when a similar motion to quash the first publication was sustained at a special session in July.

Jesse Easley, the colored man who was jailed late Sunday afternoon on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill Alonzo Flowers, being alleged to have stabbed him in the back with a knife, was arraigned, pleaded not guilty and went back to jail upon default of $2,000 bond.

Russell Taylor and Alfred Nipp, the two Newcastle boys who were charged with burglarizing the Carl Archey store at Nipp's Mill, were arraigned first this morning. Mr. Archey, who held sympathy for the boys because of their ages, requested that the charge be changed from burglary to grand larceny, and it was upon this charge that they received their sentence of from 1 to 14 years. They also were fined $10 and costs.

The sentence in the burglary case would have been 10 to 20 years. Taylor is 17 and Nipp 19 years old.

William Thorne, who was arrested in connection with the theft of jewelry from a farmer north of Rushville, gave his age also as 17 years, and pleaded guilty. Because the stolen goods had been returned, it is believed, the court suspended the sentence and will give him another trial.

James Meredith, who said he was 29 years old, also pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny. He was arrested recently by the Greensburg police officers after he had stolen a considerable amount of clothing from Lon Moore, who lives in Richland township, and upon which farm Meredith had been working for several weeks. His sentence of 1 to 14 years also carried with it a $10 fine.

Other court business this morning was as follows: Charges against Warren W. Robbins and Henry M. Robbins were dismissed when the court sustained motions to quash because of faulty jurisdiction. They were charged with perjury.

Donald Goodson, charged with wife desertion, was discharged, because the family differences have been adjusted.

A motion to discharge John M. Johnson was filed and will be argued this week. The defendant is charged with larceny and false pretense.

John D. Farlow charged with arson, did not enter a plea, and filed a motion asking for time to file a motion of some character. The motion was granted and he was allowed until Thursday morning to file the motion. He also gave $2,000 bond for his appearance.

Ned Crosby, charged with vehicle taking, was arraigned and pleaded not guilty, and was released on $1,000 bond. Paul Seright, charged with being an accessory after the fact, had not appeared at noon.

John Wilson, charged with unlawful possession pleaded not guilty, and gave $500 bond for his appearance.

Luther, Elbert and Jesse Hungerford each appeared and pleaded not guilty to charges of unlawfully catching fish, and bonds in each case amounting to $50 were provided. Clarence Weidner, charged with the same offense, did not appear this morning.

RECOMMENDS CUT IN MILROY GAS SUPPLY

Engineering Department of Public Service Commission Would Grant Company Authority.

HOW SUPPLY HAS DECREASED

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 5.—The engineering department of the Public Service Commission recommended that the Milroy Gas Company be authorized to decrease the supply of gas to the patrons and possibly limit the supply to just lights and cooking purposes.

The natural gas supply has decreased from 13,000,000 cubic feet a year in 1917 to 7,554,000 cubic feet, estimated for this year. The consumers have used in the last seven months 3,103,000 feet. The company figured that 30 percent of this gas supply was lost in transmission, thus figuring that the company would furnish 7,554,000 cubic feet this year.

In 1917, 13,000,000 cubic feet was consumed; in 1918, over ten million; in 1919, nine million; in 1920, less than nine million; in 1921, 6, 500,000 cubic feet.

MESSAGE IS SENT FROM HIDING PLACE

Bert M. Jewell, President of Railway Shopmen, Urges Strikers to Stand Firm

SAYS RAILROADS ARE LICKED

(By United Press)

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 5—Bert M. Jewell, president of the railway shopmen today sent a message to his followers from his hiding place.

Jewell urged his followers to stand firm declaring they were "Laborers' hope in the great industrial war which has raged since the world war ended."

The message was printed in the shopmen's weekly bulletin issued today.

"We do not appear to be able to get justice, food, clothing or shelter from the railroads, the president congress, or the railroad labor board," Jewell said.

"We must therefore rely on ourselves and ourselves only."

Referring directly to the railroad executives, the message said: "Despite your threats, your cunning and scheming ways, you are licked and you and all your associates know it."

The message declared that decisions of the railroad labor board are "promises written in sand".

Jewell's hiding place to which he fled shortly after the federal injunction was issued, was still unknown to federal authorities today.

BEVERIDGES WILL HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Announcement Received Here Inviting Republicans to Call Wednesday and Thursday

G. O. P. TENT AT FAIR GROUNDS

Word has been received here announcing the open house which will be held by Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Beveridge at their home, 4164 Washington Boulevard, Indianapolis, on Wednesday and Thursday of this week in connection with the Indiana state fair political activities. The hours will be four to six o'clock each afternoon.

All Republicans men and women, throughout the State are invited, and there are no invitations. The Beveridge home is less than a mile from the Fair Grounds. Republican headquarters Tent will be established at the State Fair west of the amphitheatre and automobile conveyance will be provided from the Republican Tent to the Beveridge home for those desiring it. It is expected that delegations from many counties will call at the Beveridge home during the above mentioned hours. All Republicans are invited to visit the Republican Tent at the Fair.

A number of important conferences will be held at the Republican Headquarters at the Severin Hotel throughout the week, and Chairman Lyons and Secretary Schortemeier will be available to visitors. They and their aids expect to hold many important conferences during the week.

ANNUAL MEETING OF PRESBYTERY TO OPEN

Sermon Will be Preached Tonight by Moderator, Followed by Conference on Evangelism"

WILL CONTINUE WEDNESDAY

The annual meeting of the Indiana Presbytery, United Presbyterian church, will open tonight at the Rushville church of this denomination and will continue throughout Wednesday, when two business sessions will be held and a new moderator will be elected.

The sermon at the service tonight, which begins at 7:30 o'clock, will be delivered by the moderator, Dr. A. T. Clark of Indianapolis. This will be followed by a conference on "Evangelism." The Rev. J. P. Nesbitt of Princeton will preside, the Rev F. W. Schmunk of Vevay will discuss the topic, "The Need for Evangelism", and the Rev. J. L. Kelso of Bloomington will talk on the theme, "Best Method of Evangelism". This will be followed by a general discussion.

It is earnestly desired that the entire congregation be present, the Rev. E. G. McKibben, the pastor, stated today, and a hearty invitation is extended to the friends of the church to enjoy the meeting.

PARKING ORDER CHANGED

The "No Parking" order on the south side of West Third street from Main to the fire station has been removed by Mayor Walter Thomas, and machines may now park on each side of Third street. The reason that the street was blocked off was to permit the fire trucks plenty of room in making a swing around the corner.

State's Largest Tree

Warsaw, Ind, Sept. 5—A. S. Berkey, residing on a farm four miles northwest of this city, claims that the largest tree in northern Indiana is located on his place. It is an oak, which has a 28-foot circumference, The limbs start at from 65 to 70 feet from the ground.

Old time residents of Kosciusko recall that this was the largest tree in the county 60 years ago. Tree experts estimate the age of the tree to be more than 300 years.

Strange Fisherman's Story

North Webster, Ind., Sept. 5—The strangest fisherman's story of the year comes from Webster Lake, near here. During a heavy wind storm, which is said to have originated in the gulf states, several tons of timothy hay was carried high in the air and finally was deposited on the surface of Webster Lake. Anglers who saw it falling became alarmed and took to the shore.

A subsequent investigation brought out the fact that the hay did not come from any near-by farm and some of the resorters are even going so far as to advance the theory that it was carried hundreds of miles before being deposited.

BANK ROBBER SENTENCED

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 5—Tom Collins of New York was sentenced to imprisonment from two to fourteen years, in the Kosciusko circuit court today, for attempting to rob the Farmers State bank at Milford Saturday. He was caught when the girl assistant cashier sounded the alarm.

FIFTY BOYS ARE GUESTS OF CLUB

Youngsters Who Attended Camp This Summer Dine With Rotarians at Noon

ONE OF THEM MAKES SPEECH

Supt. J. H. Scholl, Camp Director Cotton, A. L. Gary and Judge Sparks Speak Briefly

Close to fifty boys who attended the boys camp this summer, Albert Cotton, the director and his three assistants dined with the Rotary club at the weekly meeting of the club today noon at the Social club. A. L. Gary, Miss Sarah I. McConnell, and Miss Elizabeth McWilliams, the new city health nurse, were also guests. Miss McConnell lead the boys and Rotarians in some songs appropriate to the occasion.

J. H. Scholl, superintendent of schools, told the boys the Rotarians rejoiced with them in camp, at the lunch today and the whole year round, and expressed satisfaction over the fact that so many boys looked forward to the opening of school.

Mr. Cotton spoke to the boys on what men expected of them. He illustrated the point he expected to make by recalling the words of a sign at the entrance to a town, "You are Welcome. Don't Spoil Your Welcome." He urged the boys never to have an idle moment during the day because an "idle brain is the devil's workshop."

Ralph Suess, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Suess, gave some reminisences of the camp, recalling some of the fun that the boys had and how some of them acquired their nicknames.

A. L. Gary one of the supporters of the camp, said that much had been said about the boy problem, but what he was more interested in was the boys' problems. He recalled the boy who complained that every time his mother washed his face, she washed his ears, and that when she washed his neck, his ears were also washed. The problem to him, Mr. Gary said, was whether his ears belonged to his face or his neck. The speaker asserted that the boys nowadays were 100 percent better than they were a generation ago. To support this contention, he cited the fact that no one had heard of a watermelon patch being invaded this summer.

Judge Will M. Sparks asked the boys to be friendly with older men. He said they would like it. And he urged men to encourage acquaintanceship with boys, asserting that it would do them both good. Judge Sparks also stressed the importance of education and told the guests of the club that every boy there would have the chance to go to college if he would take advantage of it.

The camp director's assistants present were Herman Phillips, William Frazee and Robert Gantner.

PRAISE HOLIDAY SERVICE

Patrons of News and Republican Pleased With Rural Delivery

Many rural patrons of the Indianapolis News and the Daily Republican have complimented the two newspapers on their holiday service when no mail is delivered on rural routes.

The first demonstration of this service came Monday, Labor Day, when patrons of these two papers on motor routes received Monday's issues shortly after they were printed, whereas newspaper subscribers who depend on rural routes for their papers did not have papers from Saturday morning until Tuesday morning.

LODGE MADE GOAT FOR ALL TROUBLES

Greatest Battle of Years Expected in Massachusetts' Political Primaries Sept. 12

LODGE'S FIGHT BIG EVENT

Senator's Nomination Papers Were Signed by 60,000 Voters, a Record for the State

Boston, Sept. 5—With the state primaries only two weeks away Massachusetts' political cauldron was bubbling merrily for what is expected to be the greatest battle of ballots in years Sept. 12.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge's fight for renomination easily stands out as the big event. His nomination papers were signed by 60,000 voters, a record for the state. Opposing him for the legislature, whose platform includes the League of Nations, prohibition and the Newbury case.

As a result of much criticism of the administration's method of handling the rail and coal strikes situation, there is an undercurrent of speculation as to whether some voters will seek to show their displeasure by voting against Lodge.

President Harding's address to congress on the strike situation received much unfavorable comment here, even in the Republican press. During the hot weather the every-day-citizen worried little about his coal supply for next winter, but with warnings from State and Federal officials of a certain shortage, that same citizen is beginning to cast about for someone to blame for the situation.

In the Democratic ranks Sherman L. Whipple, a nationally known lawyer, is waging an aggressive campaign for nomination for the United States senate. Whipple has the full support of Mayor James M. Curley's city machine, a formidable weapon. Colonel William A. Gaston another prominent Democrat, will contest with Whipple for the senatorial nomination.

Former Governor Samuel W. McCall, who it was feared for a time might enter the senatorial race as an independent Republican, failed to file nomination papers.

The fight between Governor Channing H. Cox, who seeks renomination, and Attorney General J. Weston Allen takes second place in the interest of the voters. Allen is campaigning on his achievements in driving corrupt state officials from office.

With the exception of the place for secretary of state, there will be Republican and Democratic contests for every office on the ballot.

—Cyril Caron and John K. Tompkins will leave this evening for Lafayette to resume their studies in Purdue University.

—Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Smith of Evanston, Cincinnati, Ohio, spent the week-end in this city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beer.

—Thomas Jordan, Mrs. Katherine Nolan and Miss Margaret Jordan of Indianapolis visited friends in this city Monday and attended the K. of C. picnic at Green's Camp. Mrs. Sarah Jordan, who has been visiting here, accompanied them home.

REPUBLICAN CENTRAL COMMITTEE

TAKES STEP TO GET A STATE INSPECTOR

Contractor, Surveyor and Commissioners Disagree as to Quality of Stone to Use on Road

LOCATED IN PIKE COUNTY

Indiana Law Provides Three Forms of Petitions One of Which Must be Complied With

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 5—Difference of opinion between the contractor, county surveyor and county commissioners as to the quality of stone being used on a rock road under construction in Pike County near Stendal, has lead citizens of that locality to take steps to procure a State inspector on the project.

To this end the Indiana law cites three forms of petitions, one of which must be complied with in order that the State Highway Commission provide inspection. The law reads:

1. Approval of plans and specifications.

2. Approval of plans and specifications including inspection.

3. Inspection alone.

In order to obtain any one of the three forms of inspection it is necessary that fifty voters of a county file a petition with the Board of County Commissioners asking for the specific form desired. The Commissioners in turn petition the Indiana State Highway Commission for the particular form specified by the voter's petition.

In the event the County Board of Commissioners disapprove State inspection and refuse to act on the petition of the fifty voters wishing State inspection on a county road project, the law says that the petition may be filed direct with the State Highway Commission asking for this service. In this event it then becomes compulsory upon the County Board of Commissioners to petition the Highway Commission for such service.

State inspection assures uniformity of work and also insures that specifications and plans are efficient with the result the county obtains a road qualified in every respect to meet modern traffic conditions for which it is intended.

Since this law became effective many county projects throughout Indiana have been built under State inspection, and are showing the worth of this plan.

PIKES PEAK GLIDE THE LATEST STEP

Colorado Springs, Colo.,—There's at least one place in the United States where the jazz dancers don't convort in the new and "peppy" steps.

It isn't because there are any objections. But the dancers can't stand the strain.

Up on the summit of Pikes Peak the old fashioned waltzes are the most popular among the dancers. When one exercises violently at an altitude of 14,108 feet the thin air soon puts an end to the activity. Mountain sickness results.

The Pikes Peak toddle is an invention of the "upper regions". It's a slow, graceful dance not calculated to shorten the breath unduly.

At that, however, sitting out is mighty popular—with the moon and stars 14,000 feet closer.

Wanted—Your Decision on Points

	Forced-Process Motor Fuels	Silver Flash Gasoline
Liquid	Greasy; sluggish, with a marked kerosenish smell; slow to evaporate.	Rubs clean and "dry" between the fingers like alcohol; quick evaporation and no kerosene odor.
Vaporization	Wet and heavy; resists carburetion; enters combustion chamber only partly vaporized.	Vaporizes completely because of its inherent gaseous nature; no wet or unburned clinkers.
Compression	Heavy, unbroken particles tend toward being condensed or squeezed back into unburnable liquid on the compression stroke.	Compression has no liquefying effect on Real Gasoline, because Real Gasoline vaporizes completely, and thoroughly mixes with air.
Ignition	Wet, heavy make-up smothers the spark, firing slowly and reluctantly; renders starting difficult.	Real Gasoline reaches for the spark; ignites instantly; makes quick starting.
Explosion	Internally broken into a series of puffs and flareups at the beginning of the stroke; dying into dull, incomplete burning at the end. Gappy, jerky and inclined to miss.	A true explosion. Complete instantaneous combustion; unbroken flame-travel resulting in a steady progression of power clear to the stroke's end
Residue	Excessive carbon deposits; pitted valves and carbon crusted piston heads; unburned kerosene trickles down cylinder walls and dilutes lubricating oil.	Burns completely; no free carbon to steal power; no kerosene to dilute and weaken lubricating oil; leaves your motor clean.
Price	Supposedly low in first cost, but over-priced considering both cost of production and real fuel value as compared with the higher qualities of Silver Flash Gasoline.	Price fairly based on actual cost of production with legitimate profit margin; higher by the gallon but lowest per season.
Net Result	Rough driving; hard starting; excessive discharging of the battery; crank case oil dilution; quick gathering carbon deposits; jerky, missing, battering explosions; slower acceleration; poor all-round performance.	Full mileage per gallon; smooth, pleasant driving; minimum of carbon; easy starting; oil protection; longer battery life; a clean, willing motor; sweeping economy in motor upkeep costs, and at the end of a given period a motor whose better condition will bring you a bigger re-sale price for your car.
